FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

WEDNESDAY, June 24.

Business on the Stock Exchange to-day was again merely nominal. There was not even any "feature" like that of the upbidding of Colorado Fuel and Iron in the last hour of the market yesterday to lend interest to the trading. Dealings for foreign account were less than 10,000 shares, and although a little more optimism was reported as ruling in London regarding American securities, there was small evidence of it in prices. During the forenoon the updertone of the market reflected in some degree a continuation of the same strength that governed it at the close yesterday, but the market succumbed to a little wave of selling in the afternoon, and then beand Common Stock of NATIONAL RAIL ; came duller than ever. The grain markets were considerably higher by reason of unfavorable crop news, and the orgy on the Cotton Exchange went on unbroken, spot cotton touching the highest price seen here in nearly thirty years. There was a further decline in sterling exchange in Berlin and Paris, the Paris cheque falling a full centime. This, of course, helped Am Looo... 2214 a full centime. This, of course, helped along the gold export business, and $1,500,5000 in gold was taken for shipment to-morrow. Most of the prominent stocks closed at declines of less than half a point, although St. Paul fell off a full point. The new United States Steel bonds were at one time especially weak, but their price process.

Quotations for time money were reduced what to-day, the reason therefor being, probably, the small demands now being made upon money lenders by Wall Street commission houses. One of the most flattering exhibits of business profits recently made by an industrial corporation was the pre- Chi & Alton. 2512 liminary statement published to-day of the American Locomotive Company's earnings for the fiscal year. The company earned in gross during the year $32,863,750, an increase of $3,456,337. The earnings were increased, in other words, by a sum equal to the total value at current market quotations of the company's common caused by the demand for locomotives Chi Mastplp173

· Ex-dividend. THE OUTSIDE MARKET. Continued speculative apathy and insignificant price movements were to-day again the principal and almost sole features of the outside securities market. In very few instances did the extreme fluctuations exceed 5 per cent. Price movements were within narrow limits and the volume of business transacted only showed a moderate improvement. Northern Securities was dull but decidedly firmer, advancing over 1 per cent. to 61. The copper shares were dull, with the exception of the activity displayed in Greene Consolidated. At the opening it rose ½ per cent., but in the subsequent dealings considerable pressure was brought which forced the price down to yesterday's final.

The return of Mr. Morgan and other directors of the International Mercantile Marine Company from abroad influenced the shares of this stock considerably. The vice-president is quoted as saying that so far as he knew there is not the slightest reason for a reorganization of the company. The common, in the initial trading, rose 1½ per cent. on increased purchases, but near the close lost half the gain. Considerably better support was given to the preferred stock, which advanced over 5 per cent. from the last previous bid, selling up to 26½, and held all but a fraction of the gain.

eral and marked improvement. A period of dry hot weather would unquestionably serve the crop as a whole much better than the recent spells of showery days and cool nights, which have held the crop back and retarded cultivation and growth it cannot, however, be claimed that harm has resulted which may not be remedled during July and August, particularly as the crop is backward and has yet to demonstrate its future possibilities under favorable conditions. As far as the market is concerned, we are inclined to consider it too largely under the influence of individual interests to be influenced fairly by natural causes, and we prefer to await this week's developments with clearing speculative skies before recording our judgment on its possibilities."
